

Peter A. Allard School of Law, University of British Columbia
One Year Assistant Professor Appointments

The Peter A. Allard School of Law at the University of British Columbia invites applications for two or three one-year Assistant Professor positions. The successful candidates will be assigned teaching in the Allard School of Law's core curriculum (including advanced legal research and writing), will take up committee and other service roles in the Faculty, and will have significant time within their twelve month appointment to advance their research.

The law school offers varied and rigorous professional programs to a talented and diverse student body in JD, LLM and PhD programs. Situated within an outstanding public university, and located in one of the most open, diverse and beautiful cities in the world, we offer an inspiring environment for legal scholars and students to study law and its role in society, and to make a contribution to improving lives in our local communities, across Canada, and around the world. More information about the Allard School of Law is available at www.allard.ubc.ca and <http://www.allard.ubc.ca/about-us/allard-school-law-strategic-plan-2016-2021>.

The Allard School of Law seeks emerging scholars with demonstrated potential for international leadership as researchers and teachers. These positions are ideal for those who are at or near completion of a doctoral program in law or a related discipline, and who are interested in pursuing academic careers. The teaching load for the successful applicants will be less than the average for Assistant Professors at the law school, on the understanding that applicants will have limited previous teaching experience and will have an interest in focusing on developing successful research trajectories. We are seeking candidates who will be among the global leaders in their respective fields within a decade. An LLB, JD, or equivalent law degree is required and candidates must have completed, or be near completion, of a PhD or SJD.

The appointments will commence July 1, 2017, and will conclude on June 30, 2018, with a salary commensurate with the qualifications and responsibilities.

Applicants should submit:

- (1) a cover letter indicating interest in an appointment at the Allard School of Law and describing: a. academic and research accomplishments, b. teaching experience (if any) and teaching interests within the Faculty's core curriculum.
- (2) a curriculum vitae;
- (3) law and graduate school transcripts;
- (4) a one-page outline of the research project(s) to be pursued during the appointment
- (5) the names and contact information for three individuals who you have asked to supply letters of reference. The law school will contact these individuals directly if letters are required.

(6) one representative scholarly publication or, where publications are not available, other samples of written work (these materials will not be returned); and

(7) teaching evaluations if available.

Electronic applications are required and should be submitted to the Appointments Committee (appointments@allard.ubc.ca) by March 23, 2017. Unofficial academic transcripts may be submitted with the initial application, but official academic transcripts will be required before appointment. Incomplete applications may not be accepted. The Allard School of Law reserves the right to consider applications until the positions are filled.

UBC hires on the basis of merit, is strongly committed to equity and diversity within its community, and seeks to recruit candidates with the skills and knowledge to productively engage with diverse communities. We especially welcome applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply. Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.
