

ACCESS TO JUSTICE WEEK BC 2018

Lawyering with Heart ♥

Violence-informed and solution-focussed lawyering for Indigenous youth and families

Co-presented by the Law and Social Justice Specialization, Public Interest Career Services, Indigenous Legal Studies Program and co-organized with the Indigenous Law Students Association

Natalie Clark

Associate Professor, Faculties of Education & Social Work, Thompson Rivers University

Professor Clark's research interests include Indigenous methodologies and community based participatory research projects within intersectional research teams. She practices sexual abuse and violence counselling with children youth and adults, as well as providing training and consultation on the topic of trauma and violence. She has extensive experience in community-based research in the areas of youth health including issues of sexual exploitation, eating disorders, youth justice and health, violence and the support needs of girls and women. Professor Clark is the founder and Director of the Centre for Community-Based Youth Health Research at TRU.

Katrina Harry

Lead Counsel, Parents' Legal Centre, Legal Services Society of BC

Katrina Harry is a lawyer with an extensive practice in child protection law and Aboriginal law. Since 2015 Katrina has been the Lead Counsel at the Legal Services Society's Parents' Legal Centre where she assist parents with child protection issues to reach collaborative solutions as early as possible in the child protection process. Katrina provides advice and representation to clients and is committed to the prospect of early intervention and timely resolution of child protection matters.

OCTOBER

3

WEDNESDAY

12:30-2:00

INDIGENOUS CLASSROOM
ROOM 123

Lunch will be provided.

@a2jweekBC

#a2JweekBC

www.a2jweekbc.ca

ALLARD
SCHOOL OF LAW

